

A Cry for Madiom ongoing Genocide in the Sudan

by Erez T Yanuv Barzilay

one hour documentary featuring the long forgotten fate of the people of Southern Sudan from some of the first viewers:

"How much love there is in a place that has nothing. We had everything but never had so much love."

Poul Leard

Shambhala's Marpa House, Boulder, Colorado, USA

"The film made me feel like I was there amongst the patient starving children and their mothers."

Jim Morris

Boulder, Colorado, USA

"The film makes you feel guilty for every mouthful of food that we eat and have such easy access to.

The film is unique in that you have chosen to stay with the footage instead of cut away so people are forced to imagine that "there go I but for the grace of God".

Gillian & Rudi Darling Kovanic

Bowen Island, British Columbia, Canada

"Thank you for sharing this incredible experience with us. No words can convey the impact this will/has had on me."

Naomi English

Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada

"The movie, 'Cry for Madiom' was absolutely stunning it brought back many painful memories and encouraged me to really go back home. The discussion was brilliant, I really wish more people can see this."

"Your collected footage from your brief visit to the MSF camp in the Sudan will give viewers who wish to take the time to see it through your eyes, a convincing and sobering impression of the work of MSF, and the difficulty faced by journalists filing the stories that turn up on the evening news."

Gary Marcuse

Programming Executive, CBC Television

Vancouver, Canada

"It was very moving and will make a difference in the world. Thank you for the efforts you made to make such a film. It was very powerful and does dwarf any of our perceived sorrows."
